Business Meals Taken with Other Employees

Meals with other Emory employees are generally not reimbursable. Meals with Emory colleagues should be considered a personal expense unless one of the following is true:

a) a non-Emory employee is also present and business is being conducted;
b) the meal is in honor of an Emory employee's beginning or ending of employment at Emory or other significant Emory or professional achievement;
c) business being conducted among Emory employees is such that it cannot be done in the office or another time. (An explanation of the reason why the meeting could not take place in the office must accompany the reimbursement/expense request); or
d) rare or atypical instances where, with approval of a supervisor, employees may work during normal meal breaks with other employees, e.g., working lunches.

In all situations, a list of employees, their titles, guests and their affiliation and the business purpose must accompany the request for reimbursement or charge to an Emory account. The University requires an original, itemized receipt to be submitted with the Expense Report.
